

REVEALTM PCL and DJDE Viewer

“Our users can easily view and print documents the way they actually look. PCL Viewer was the answer.”

Yesterday you ran simple ASCII text reports. Today your applications are outputting reports with form overlays; in rich text formats; using enhanced, bold and italic fonts; with graphics such as company logos and charts. Can you capture these reports electronically? Can your users download, view and print their reports in their proper formats? Will they be correctly formatted at any printer? If not you are incurring additional cost in report handling.

Enhanced Desktop Viewers make it as easy to capture, view and distribute PCL and DJDE formatted documents.

With the widespread adoption of laser jet printers, PCL became a requirement as the printing format of choice. With PCL Viewer, report users can view and print PCL-formatted reports from their desktops exactly as they were originally created for output to paper. Even reports which were designed to be printed on a certain type or generation of printer are supported with PCL Viewer.

Enterprises with an investment in Xerox high-speed print technology, require the ability to capture, secure, distribute and display DJDE enhanced print streams to any user. With DJDE Viewer, the cost of printing, handling and mailing are greatly reduced and the turnaround is increased.

Features

- Supports local printing of PCL and DJDE-enhanced documents, retaining formatting and graphical elements
- Installs easily, quickly and accurately, without requiring programming changes to applications
- Apply PinPoint security rules to each user or group of users
- Provide full searching, indexing and bursting capabilities on PCL-formatted files
- Retain all document formats as originally created for historical accuracy
- Save time and money by allowing reprinting of invoices, statements, checks and other documents from local printers without having to recreate the original report

“Our customer service reps can now see exactly what the customer sees. That is really helpful in answering customer’s questions and it is so much easier to reprint invoices and statements.”
